The A. H. S. Newscast

By Peggy Ellen Cole

Hi, boys and girls! We're right in the middle of one of those weeks in which there is not much activity.

We're all a little unhappy about the football game Friday night, but the boys did play a splendid game. We are all very proud of them and we know they did their best.

Our next game will be here, Friday night, with Altavista. This promises to be a good game, so come on out and support the team.

We saw a number of former A. H. S. students and teachers at the game in Bedford Friday night. Lois and Fay Wood from Ferrum Junior College were there, and Miss Viola Carson and Miss Shuford. It was so good to see them and we are glad to know that they are doing well.

There was an assembly program Wednesday morning in the auditorium, devoted to our agricultural department. Mr. Kerr presented a check for $100.00 to Mr. Pack for improvement of the shop. This money was given by the Lindlin Foundation as a part of a prize won by Leon Paulette in their contest for farm mechanics. We are proud of Leon and we know that he is a credit to our school. Speeches were made by Sam Davidson, a graduate, and State Star Farmer, and also by Mr. Pack.

Members of the annual staff went to Lynchburg Tuesday to get advertisements. They were very successful and will return in the near future to complete the work.

Appomattox was well represented in Lynchburg at the Farm Show last week. Quite a number of prizes were won on livestock, foods and clothing. I hope you attended the show because if you didn't you missed something very worthwhile.

The Latin Club held a meeting in Miss Harriet Holley's room Monday morning. At this meeting the first year students were taken in as "slaves" and will remain as such until after Christmas.

The Junior and Senior classes will go to the McLean House Thursday for a program being presented there.

There will be a photographer here the 23rd and 24th of this month. He will take individual pictures of everyone in school, so come those days looking your best.

This about covers the news for this week, but I'll be back next week with news of more activities.

PULPWOOD OUTPUT INCREASES IN STATE

Pulpwood production in Virginia for 1950 totaled 1,000,000 cords, but increases in other southeastern states dropped Virginia to fourth place.

J. W. O'Byrne says that of the cords produced in Virginia, 775,000 were of pine; 249,753 of various hardwoods; and 19,455 of chestnut that was also worked for tannic acid.

By counties, the distribution ranged from more than 75,000 cords in Buckingham to none in Bland, Buchanan, Dickenson and Tazewell, (where mine props have better sale than pulpwood) and a few counties where there is little timber. Twelve counties produced more than 25,000 cords.

Although pines still predominate, there is a significant increase in the amount of hardwoods being used. In Alleghany, Amherst and Buckingham, hardwoods exceed pine, while in several other counties they are a considerable proportion of the cut.

O'Byrne sees this as a healthy trend. Hardwoods are preferred for some grades of paper, and can be used more extensively for others.

The amount of cash paid out last year for pulpwood cut in Virginia and delivered to mill or siding, was well over $14,000,000. And pulpwood makes up less than 15 per cent of the total cut.

A Visit to School Cafeteria

(By Calvin Robinson)

At the invitation of the P.-T. A. Cafeteria Committee, I had lunch at the local high school Monday and saw first hand how smoothly over 250 children can be fed.

Beginning at 10:50 A. M. the school bells designate a series of 25-minute lunch periods. First in the cafeteria line are some 165 first and second graders. From 11:35 to 12, about 160 from one section of the third grade and the fourth and fifth grades come to chow. At 12:05, 187 eighth and ninth grades eat, and so on until by 1:25 everyone has been to lunch. Largest group and the biggest eaters—the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

At 10:15 A. M. a local dairy arrives with the first half of the day's supply of milk, in half-pint bottles. A new supply is brought in at 12, and at 2:00 the dairy picks up the empty bottles. Over half of the 600 bottles consumed each day by the students are chocolate flavored. Ice cream is the only consumption of fresh milk is the pride and joy of the cafeteria management.

Monday's menu on the 75 cent plate: smoked sausage, roast sweet potato, baked apples, celery, whole wheat or white bread.

I got in line, got a tray, silver and picked up one of the regular plates just like the children were buying. With a bottle of milk, my lunch was 21 cents. Mrs. Dora Conner and Mrs. Mitchell Lewis are cashiers.

Well, around with my tray to a table. The nearly 200 children were at their tables in less than ten minutes. I was ready to eat, when there was music from the piano: "Softly Now the Light of Day," played by Mrs. Jean Henson. Then Miss Caroline Paulette returned thanks, saying, "We thank Thee, Lord, for this food and all these blessings."

Coach Gordon Bragg, setting a good example with two bottles of milk on his tray, sat with us, and then Principal H. E. Kerr joined our table.

Checking on trays, it seemed that most pupils were getting the regular 15 cent plate lunch. But some preferred a sandwich or soup or a salad with potato chips or peanuts. Most pupils ate from the tray, and when through eating returned the tray and dishes to one end of the counter, setting the empty milk bottles back in stacked cases. Straws had been provided for drinking the milk, holding dish washing to a minimum. Mrs. C. T. Moses, Jr., of the P.-T. A. Cafeteria Committee, Mrs. Barger, Cafeteria Manager, Miss Flora Williams and others of the faculty were in general supervision.

I came away with the impression that a commendable job was being done at the school cafeteria.

Patrons are always welcome. Pay the regular rate.

Local Legion In Drive For New Members

Appomattox Post 104 of the American Legion is now engaged in a membership drive, and urges all honorably discharged veterans who are not already members to join the local post.

It is believed that many potential members are unaware of the many activities sponsored by the largest of the veterans' organizations. Nearly every piece of legislation beneficial to ex-service men of World Wars I and II, including the G. I. Bill of Rights, was conceived or supported by the American Legion.

Also high on the list of Legion activities is the rehabilitation program for the care and protection of disabled service men. And in the field of child welfare the Legion provides aid for many thousands of needy widows and orphans.

The Legion is active in youth education. This year the local post will award a $25 war bond to the winner of an oratorical contest on some phase of the American constitution. All high school students in the county will be invited to enter the contest and the winner here will compete nationally for a $4,000 college scholarship.

Regular meetings are held every fourth Monday at the American Legion building here. The building is the scene of many activities, including Legion-sponsored square dances and family picnic suppers. Other local organizations have access to the building. Some of them using it are Boy Scouts, the National Guard and high school groups.

A. H. S. Defeats Altavista 45-0

The Appomattox Blue Hornets turned on the power and defeated Altavist in a Group 2 District 4 League football game here Friday night. Everything Appomattox tried worked and the AHS team received excellent blocking.

Final score: AHS 45, Altavista 0.

In the first quarter Appomattox scored on a run of 60 yards by Ed Cawthorne and some beautiful blocking by Bobby Chernault, Henry Doss and Charles Carter. Leon Paulette scored three touchdowns on passes. In all, the Hornets completed 11 of 13 pass attempts. Ed Cawthorne tallied two more touchdowns and had still another called back. Teddy Mitchell scored once. Bobby Chernault made a 95 yard touchdown run but it was also called back on a rule infraction.

Ray Wingfield contributed the most unusual play of the game. He intercepted a pass and ran it back 60 yards, and thinking he had crossed the goal line, handed the ball to the referee when on the ten yard marker. Appomattox travels to Lynchburg Saturday night to meet Brookville in a league game.

The Junior Varsity will seek to keep its record of not having been scored on or beaten, Thursday night at 8:00 at the Lee Park, when they meet a strong Amherst H. S. team.

On Monday, October 29, Miss Billie Morgan will discuss with the primary teachers of the county the topic, "Development of the Child in Reading." REV. L. F. CALLAHAM RETIRES, AFTER LONG AND USEFUL MINISTRY

It is with deep regret that the people of this community have learned that at the recent session of the Virginia Conference, the Rev. L. F. Callahan, pastor of the Appomattox Circuit, retired from the active ministry.

Mr. Callaham came to Appomattox, with his wife and four children, in October, 1916, and served Memorial Methodist Church for four years, as its first full-time pastor. During this quadrennium, the church experienced a creditable growth in all phases of its work, and the parsonage, now occupied by the Rev. R. Carl Maxwell, was built under his leadership, having been completed in the spring of 1920. Since leaving Appomattox, he has served the following charges in the Virginia Conference: Montvale, North Garden, Louisa, Amherst, Wakefield, LaCrosse, Boykins and Herndon. At the Annual Conference of 1949, he retired, but in 1950, he took work again, and was assigned to the Appomattox Circuit, and has served Mt. Comfort, Trinity, Bethel and Herman for the conference year just ended.

During each of his pastorates in this county, he has wrought well as pulpiteer, pastor, citizen, neighbor and friend; and he and his good wife will be greatly missed as they leave the community. It is understood that they will retire to their own home in Lynchburg. As they go, the good wishes of the entire community go with them, and may the warmth of friendships formed during their illness, and memories of work well done, crown their future days with happiness. Student Orchard at VPI

Actual in-the-field training for V. P. I. horticultural students will be made available with the establishment of a new "student" orchard.

Dr. Wesley P. Judkins, head of the horticultural department at V. P. I., says the orchard will contain the most important varieties of apple, pear, peach, plum, and cherry trees which are grown in Virginia. Each year for eight years, 140 trees will be planted.

In a few years, the students will have trees of all ages which can be used to demonstrate training and pruning practices during the critical development years. Each year, starting at about eight years of age, the oldest row will be removed and a new row planted. In this way a continuous cycle of trees will be maintained.

The orchard also will be used to give the students training in orchard mouse control, budding and grafting and other operations.

Dr. Judkins says the orchard should also be of interest to commercial growers. He says that as far as is known, no other college in the east offers pomology students an orchard in which this type of work can be done.

W. D. Morris Wins Plaque Curing Hams

W. D. Morris, of Appomattox won first prize in the third annual Virginia Ham Show and Contest at the Virginia Frozen Food Locker Plant Association conference at the Cavalier Hotel, Virginia Beach, last week. Mr. Morris returned home with a handsome plaque as tangible evidence that Appomattox people are tops in curing a ham. Country style cured hams were featured, with George E. Herring, of V. P. I., as chief judge. The presentation to Mr. Morris was made by Frank J. Parrish, president of the Virginia Frozen Food Locker Plant Association.

Mr. Morris is associated with the Appomattox Frozen Food Locker, which he represented at the meeting.

Conservation Week Observed In County

The week of October 21-28 has been designated Conservation Week by Governor John S. Battle.

During this week, the conservation of Virginia's natural resources is being emphasized. Important natural resources are soil, water, forests, wildlife. The supervisors of the Robert E. Lee Soil Conservation District have requested all agencies to assist in publicizing the work being done to fill the need for conservation.

More than 360 Appomattox County farmers are actively cooperating with the District in practicing conservation farming. They are practicing good land use, contour strip cropping, contour tillage, terracing and good rotations. These practices help to keep the valuable top soil on the hills where it belongs, help hold the fertilizer and lime where the crops can use it and slow run-off so that rain water soaks into the ground for future use.

Trained foresters have assisted many farmers to manage woodland so as to maintain a sustained yield. This service is available free of cost. In most cases, by following the foresters recommendations, the farmer is able to have a steady income from his woodland and improve it at the same time.

More than 200 Appomattox farmers have planted wildlife borders for food and cover for birds and other game. The District is assisting the State Game Commission with these borders, and also assisting the Game Commission and the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Co. in planning and planting portions of the pipe line right-of-way for wildlife food and cover.

The District has assisted in design and layout of approximately 30 farm ponds. These ponds furnish food for the farm family, recreation, water for livestock, and fire protection.

Conservation farming means using and treating land properly to avoid damage and to increase productivity. A person who practices conservation helps himself and the community.

DON'T LET THEM DIE!

The Appomattox County Blood Program Committee is daily receiving pathetic appeals from the Red Cross headquarters in Alexandria, Va., and frequently from the Red Cross Blood Cenfer in Roanoke, Va. Stock piles of blood plasma are exhausted. New supplies of blood must be obtained in larger quantities than are being secured now. The wounded in Korea and the sick and injured in Virginia may have to die unless YOU give a pint of your blood at the first opportunity. That privilege will come Saturday, November 17, at the local school cafeteria. A blood donor pledge card will be found in today's issue on Page Two. Sign it and mail it to Richard D. Robinson, Blood Program Recruitment Chairman, Appomattox, Va. Kindly circle on the pledge card the hour of the day most suitable to you. This should be done NOW, because the committee must know at once the number of donors it can count upon.

GENERAL ELECTION TUESDAY, NOV. 6

State Senator Charles T. Moses today called attention to the general election to be held in Virginia on Tuesday, November 6. He cited the fact that county officers are to be elected on that date, and urged that there be a large turn-out of voters. There are some 2,200 eligible voters in the county, and the Appomattox tradition is for a heavy vote.

HOLLIDAY LAKE ATTENDANCE RECORD

Considerable pleasure has been expressed by state officials at the figure of 66,048 attendance at Holliday during the past season. Total attendance at all state parks and the three recreational areas this year was 1,403,696.

The two sections of the 5th grade of Appomattox High School, under the supervision of Miss Mamie Culpo and Mrs. Elizabeth Irving, visited the Craddock and Terry Shoe factory, Lynchburg Hosiery Mills, and Quality Dairy on October 19.

This tour was in connection with a study of industries in Virginia. Seeing the raw materials made into the finished product, step by step, created much interest, and made the process of manufacturing clearer.

The class was accompanied by the following patrons: Mrs. Judson Morris, Mrs. George Abbitt, Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Mrs. W. T. Coleman. Lunch was enjoyed in Miller Park.

MARCH OF DIMES SENDS CHECK FOR $800

A check for $800.00 to help provide care for local polio patients has been received by the Appomattox County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, it was announced today by George B. Buchanan, Chapter Chairman.

When March of Dimes funds are raised, Mr. Buchanan explained, half the money stays here with the local chapter and half goes to national headquarters for research, professional education and emergency aid such as that just received here.

Mr. Buchanan said that recordbreaking polio incidence during the past three years had exhausted treasuries of hundreds of chapters across the country.

"Our own chapter's plight provides a typical example," he said. "In the 1951 March of Dimes we raised $3,756.90. However, the chapter share was exhausted very shortly and we have had to call on the emergency aid fund at national headquarters."

The Appomattox Chapter is providing funds for the care, in whole or in part, for four patients afflicted last year, prior to January 1, 1951.
